Countles and Tammany Men Fight for an East Side Hall.

A Faction Thrown Out the Door Returns Through a Window.

A political campaign isn't considered exciting on the east side unless it is characterized by an occasional appeal to armsnature's weapons, of course.

Excitement to the east-sider means some thing more than mental exhibaration. It must possess physical elements such as the "knock-down" and "drag-out" to really appeal to his love of sensation.

It is for this reason that the campaigns in Manhattan's orient are marked by some lively fracases, and would be considered positively dull and insipid affairs if this

THEY HUNTLED OUT THE SPEAKER AND THE MAJORITY OF THE TANMANT MEN. " Some of the affairs are mere teapot temsts, but all of them are amusing because of the earnestness of the opposing champions in the cause of their particular candidates, and the apparent lack of necessity for and causelessness of the application of physical force to enforce political dogmas. There is not an east side politician who cannot tell an interesting tale of a 'shindy" at an election district meeting. John A. Wrede, Cashier in the County Clerk's Office and County Clerk Glegerich's confidential man, tells of one which occurred in the Twelfth Assembly District in

There was then a union on county officer between Tammany Hall and the County Democracy, but an exceedingly bot canvass was being made between the rival candidates for Assemblyman and Alderman. "Bob De Lacey was the County Democ racy candidate for Alderman," said Mr. Wrede by way of preface. "He was elected, and I guess be wishes he hadn't been, for he spent a long time in Canada because of 'Tammany Hall was running Maurice F. Holahan, now a Commissioner of Accounts. against De Lacey, and we were whooping it up red-bot for him. " 'Fatty' Grote controlled several districts on the southern border of the Assembly District, around Sheriff, Stanton and Houston streets in the interest of the County Democracy. In fact, so absolute was his sway there that there were hardly any Tammany men to be found in the neighborhood. Notwithstanding this fact, we determined to invade the enemy's camp, and attempt to make votes for Mr. Holshan and our candidate for Assemblyman, Emanuel Schwarz.

A meeting was arranged to be held in a hall in the rear of a liquor saloon in Sheriff street, between Houston and Stanton streets, in the very centre of Grote's princi-

" It was a bold thing to do, for the Grote people were known to have declared that they would prevent the holding of any Tammany Hall meetings in their neighbor-

Well, the meeting was arranged for, and James R. Purdy was assigned to open it by other orators, to arrive later in the evening, after filling prior engagements. Leonard A. Giegerich was one of these and I was with bim at a meeting at Becker's Hall, in Pitt street, when in rushed Purdy, pale, breathless and very much rumpled as to clothing. "He announced that he had hardly got his Sheriff street meeting organized when 'Fatty' Grote and his followers had taken possession of it, and bundled out the speaker and the majority of the Tammany men present, neck and beels. "Mr. Giegerich abruptly ended his speech, and the entire Pitt street audience started off with blood in their eyes and a wicked determination to recapture that other meeting from the invading County Democrats. When we arrived on the scene, pandemonium reigned. There was a bowling, crowding mass of humanity filling the ball, and it seemed utterly impossible to force an entrance. "We couldn't get into the hall from the tront entrance, but we found a way at the rear. A window was open, and through this we pushed Mr. Glegerich, right over the heads of the squirming, shouting pentup mass of men, who were packed into the hall like sardines in a box.

"The County Democrats had come in such force that their object was practically frustrated. They had packed themselves in so tightly that they could not eject all the Tammanvites. They had come to bounce. and Mr. Giegerich found a few of his friends about him, including some of the officers of the meeting.

"Getting on a table, Mr. Giegerich finally while, and gradually drifted into a campaign speech, which was well received by the Counties, because the speaker was cautious and only talked on the State and county issues, on which there was a union.

"Thinking they had won the battle the ranks of the Counties began to thin out, but as fast as a County Democrat left his place would be filled by a Tammany man from the body-guard which accompanied and which had been waiting outside for an opportunity to get into the hall.

A WINDOW WAS OPEN AND TRROUGH THIS W PUBLIED MR. GIRGERICH. "

"The substitution of Tammany men for County Democrats went slowly on until last week for detaining her in his room against Mr. Gieverich noticed that the balance of her will, was also present. He said that Magpower had turned in favor of the Wigwam, and he turned his attention to a discussion of local issues and candidates.

"The remaining Counties resented this but it was too late. Triumphant Tammany served the dissenters as they themselves reporter last week that he could prove by his had been served earlier in the evening. They were bustled into the street, and Tan many ruled the roost.

"The tables had been turned.

Important Movement in the History of Organized Labor.

The present week promises to be the begin-than a mere assembling of the girls together is proposed.

As in the men's trade unions, the cirls will be organized by irades, and all of the unions are to be tributary or auxiliary to the Workingwomen's Society.

This organization has recently established its it in plea-ant, roomy quarters at 26 East Fourth attreet, where Miss Kate Crouch, a public school graduate, is in the type deally from 10 to 12 A. M. and 1 to 10 r. M. Miss Mary Distribution in the property in the society's temporary treasurer and Miss Frances Morris is acting as secretary.

The Society will endeavor to make the organized working gris feel that its headquary, term on East Fourth street is a some for them. There they can mind their meetings and fine a place for an interchange of views and opinions, a library, reading-room, and a bureau for complaints of wrong inflated upon them.

To assist in the work of organization, the

M-ellips of all these unions will be held during the coming week at the Working-women's Soci-ty's rooms, when constitutions will be allopted and officers will be elected, and the unions be more completely and soluly organized.

It is proposed also to form a central body, to ne composed of delegates from each of the unions, thus making the total organization still more complete, and enabling the New York unions to co-operate with those of other cites, as well as to act together here for their general welfare.

In connection with the Workingwomen's Society Miss Ida M. Van Etten will push forward the work of organization, especially upon the east side, and strive to withdraw girls and women from those unions composed of both sexes and form unions of women exclusively. This proposition is meeting with favor not only among the women but also among the men, who recognize that better results can be obtained by the separation of the sexes.

Miss Van Etten will be savisted to nor labors by Miss Mary Foster, a graduate from Newsham College, Engised, who has been associated with John Euras and Clementina Black is organizing London's working girls.
